ALLEGED FIREBUG CAUGHT BY POSSE

Tom Kinney, Object of Search During Week, Captured Friday Evening Near Homer

IN BARN ON BRANAM FARM

Attempts to Burn Barns on Kessler and Inlow Farms in Walker
Township Discovered

Tom Kinney, the alleged firebug who has been the object of a search by posses of farmers in this county all week, was located late Friday in the barn on the Will Branam farm, between Homer and Manilla, and brought to jail here, where charges will probably be preferred against him today.

The man arrested is the same one who was taken into custody a week ago Friday on the J. M. Amos farm, and who was believed to be insane, and turned over to the county poor farm superintendent, but who escaped during the night.

The barn on the W. A. Norris farm burned last Sunday afternoon and on the night before the barn on the Edwin Ward farm near Moscow burned, which aroused the suspicions of the officials.

Special investigator Simmons of the state fire marshal's office was called and came here last Monday and remained all week on the case, assisting the Horse Thief Detective Association, which was responsible for the arrest.

The alleged demented man was brought to jail here about 6:30 Friday night, and later last night was taken to the farm of Lucy Inlow in Walker township, where evidence of a fire had been discovered a few days before.

In the barn on the John Kessler farm in the same neighborhood, where the man was discovered Thursday night, but escaped when the farmer went for help, were additional signs of an attempt at arson, according to the officers.

In this barn, the man had concealed himself in bales of straw piled up, and he had piled up a stack of shavings which he had whittled from a pine board. There were many safety matches stuck throughout the straw.

At the Inlow barn, in one place were signs of charred eels, and a charred baseboard, and two empty boxes which contained safety matches were found. When arrested last night, the prisoner had a box of safety matches, of the same brand, which were found empty in the Inlow barn.

Nothing was obtained from the prisoner, as the result of the visit to the Inlow barn last night, the officers said. The officers assert that the man is not demented, and is quite responsible for his actions.

He told Sheriff Hunt this morning that he knew the men were looking for him on the two previous nights, because they were close to him, he said, and he managed to escape them.

When found last night he was in the barn at the Branam farm and the building was guarded until the officers arrived. Mr. Branam stated that the man had been hidden in the barn all day, because they had searched it, and he had hidden him.

TO PAVE NATIONAL ROAD AT DUNREITH

Mile Is Only Remaining Strip Of Highway Unpaved Between Indianapolis and Richmond

TRACTION MOVES TRACKS

Dunreith, Ind. Oct. 28—Work of paving the National road through Dunreith, the only remaining strip of the highway unpaved between Indianapolis and Richmond, is under way. A force of 60 workmen started this week excavating for the pavement and the east end of the town is blocked to traffic.

The traction company is co-operating with the road contractor and the car tracks are being moved to the southward. The paving will consist of a 22-foot strip in front of the traction station to the elevator office and then two 14 foot strips east to the L. E. and W. railroad. The moving of the tracks was necessary because of the switch in front of the station.

Hopes to eliminate the dangerous grade crossings of the traction line and the Pennsylvania railway at the west edge of town, were abandoned, when engineers were unable to agree on a method. The work is being pushed and the contractor hopes to complete the stretch of highway before cold weather.

SPECIAL VENIRE OF 20 NAMES IS ORDERED

Preparations For Trial of Elbert Morris on Charge of Contributing to Delinquency of Girl

GRAND JURY TO MEET TUESDAY

A special venire of 20 names was ordered drawn for jury service on Tuesday, when the case in juvenile court will be tried in which Elbert Morris, Milroy veterinarian, is to be tried on a charge of encouraging delinquency of a minor girl.

A long list of witnesses is being summoned by each side for the case, and it is expected that several days will be required for the case.

The grand jury which met in a short session Friday and recessed without making a report, will meet again on Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock for a thirty minute session, according to Albert Stevens, prosecuting attorney, who said that the investigators at that time would finish up, and make a report of their findings.

Several minor court matters were being taken up today by Judge Sparks, in the circuit court.

FALLS AND BREAKS HER HIP

"Aunt" Pollyann Stiers is Not Expected to Live

"Aunt" Pollyann Stiers, who has been an inmate at the county home for some time past, and is now past 94 years old, recently fell and fractured her hip in such a manner as to cause a serious illness, being unconscious part of the time. Friends have grave hopes for her recovery on account of her age.

The accident happened last Sunday and the aged woman has been in a critical condition ever since. It was said at the county infirmary today that she probably would not live many hours.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN BUILDING TRADES

Eight Hoosier Cities Issue Permits
Numbering 2,172 During Month of September

INDIANAPOLIS LEADS STATE

Six Jobs For Every Five Applicants,
Free Employment Service Report Reveals

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28—Eight Hoosier cities issued building permits numbering 2,172, during September, with a total valuation of the new buildings reaching $5,408,568, according to a resume of building activities in the larger cities of the state.

Building activities generally are being carried on in a large degree, notwithstanding that colder weather usually brings a lull in erection of new buildings.

The survey of the State's new building was conducted in only eight of the larger cities. Contractors declare that the past summer has seen a decided increase in building projects over the summer of 1921. The smaller cities have been responsible for many new buildings, they say.

The building survey of the state for September show that 1,163 building permits were issued in Indianapolis with a total valuation of $1,926,956.

Fort Wayne, was second in building activities, 175 building permits having been issued, with a total valuation of $1,774,930. South Bend was a close third, having issued 377 permits, the valuation totalling $1,065,104.

Gary, Terre Haute, and Hammond followed in order, the former issuing 81 permits for a building valuation of $171,440; the second issuing 168 permits, for a valuation of $169,288, and the latter having a building valuation of $154,200, with 74 permits.

One-hundred twenty permits in Evansville were issued for a building valuation of $111,704, and Elkhart, the eighth city, had a building valuation of $34,950, and 14 building permits.

A nationwide survey of building activities shows that September 1922 had a 34 percent increase over the valuation of $152,367,082, in September 1921, when the valuation was $202,730,795.

Employment and industrial conditions in Indiana, as disclosed by the annual report of the Free Employment Service of the State Industrial Board, completed today for the year that ended September 30, show more than six jobs for every five applicants. The board, in cooperation with municipalities, maintains stations in only ten cities, which are so widespread that the board's reports are recognized barometer of state conditions.

The industrial board, through the employment service, now is directing its efforts to elimination of the "part-time" employment, according to the report. The present "part-time" employment is declared to be a normal condition in the country but the Indiana industrial is endeavoring to improve this condition.

In speaking of industrial conditions in Indiana the report says: "In completing the fiscal year on September 30, 1922, the department finished one of the most active years in its history."

Through the workings of the employment service, maintaining stations in Anderson, East Chicago, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Hammond, Indianapolis, Kokomo, Lafayette, Muncie and Terre Haute, 27,551 men and 11,785 women were placed in positions during the year.

Even with this large number placed in industries of the state, the supply of workers fell short of the demand by 8,737.

This does not take into consideration the number of men and women who were employed in industries that did not appeal to the employment service, which total many thousand.

MUSSOLINI IS NEW DICTATOR

Assumes Charge of Italian Government Following Fall of Cabinet of Premier Facta

HEAD OF FASCISTO GROUP

Former Premier Giolitti Will Probably be Invited by King to Form
New Cabinet

By HENRY WOOD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Rome, Oct. 28—Benito Mussolini was practically dictator of Italy today following the fall of the cabinet of Premier Facta.

Mussolini, head of the Fascisti whose coup was responsible for the resignation of the Facta government, which was placed in the hands of King Victor Emmanuel last night, came to Rome to confer with Parliamentary leaders.

The Fascisti head was summoned to Rome by Facta just before the premier went to the railroad station and presented his resignation to the king.

It was anticipated that former Premier Giolitti, who is due to arrive here today, would be invited by the king to form a cabinet. The grand old man of Italy who has just celebrated his 80th birthday is scheduled to confer with King Victor Emmanuel and Mussolini.

It was officially announced by the ministry of the Interior that Fascisti have concentrated in several large towns.

Coincidental with this announcement came with the official denial of widespread reports that the Fascisti had seized several municipalities and had actually started military action to seize control of the government.

Fascisti May March on Rome
Paris, Oct. 28—The Fascisti are concentrating in several Italian cities and may march on Rome, an unconfirmed report reaching here stated today.

This report, which came from Rome, stated that the Fascisti have overcome the military police at Florence, where resistance was met and occupied the postoffice.

The barracks at Siena has been occupied and strong concentrations are in progress at Pisa, Pistoia and Leghorn, it was said.

ORGANIZATION OF KU KLUX KLAN REPORTED

Said to Have Held Meeting Friday Evening But Gathering Place is Not Known

ORGANIZERS HAVE BEEN HERE

Little doubt remained in the mind of the average Rushville person today that the Ku Klux Klan had organized in Rushville.

Several Rushville men reported today that a meeting of the organization was held Friday night in the vicinity of Rushville, but the exact location of the gathering place was not known to anyone who would discuss the subject.

Following the reports that a meeting would be held last night, the gathering of many men from all parts of the county in Rushville placed emphasis on the rumor that the Ku Klux Klan was forming in the county.

The latest rumors followed those of several days ago when the story was being circulated that a preliminary organization meeting had been held.

It is known that organizers for the Klan have been in Rushville during the past few weeks and have tried to induce a number of Rushville citizens to take the leadership in the movement.

Evansville—Miss Lucille Morgan of Washington when she was arrested here said she was tired of going to high school and had run away from home to get married.

FARLOW 'IS STILL IN JAIL

Sentence Will Likely Not be Passed
Before November 7

John D. Farlow, who was convicted of arson in the court here late Thursday by a jury, remained in jail today awaiting sentence to be passed upon him by Judge John Craig of Greensburg, special judge who heard the case.

According to Donald L. Smith, one of the attorneys for the defense, an appeal to the supreme court is being prepared and will be presented when sentence is passed by the court. Judge Craig will probably not come here until after November 7 to pass upon the matter, and the defendant will remain in jail until he comes and arranges the appeal bond.

WILL LIKELY BE SENT BACK TO CINCINNATI

Harry Hartogensie, Who Was Held as Suspect in Connection With Fires, May Be Released

THOUGHT TO BE A CONVICT

Harry Hartogensie, the man who was placed in jail Wednesday as a suspect in connection with the burning of two barns in the county, was still in jail today, and officers were about decided today to put him on the train for Cincinnati, as he told them that he came here from that place.

The man, who is alleged to be a tramp, was picked up in the country, near here Wednesday, and he had $11 in his pockets.

After being questioned, he gave the officers the impression that he was existing on the belief that the world owed him a living, and he was believed to be a dangerous citizen to have around. His description and picture resembled an escaped convict from the Leavenworth prison, who was sentenced for counterfeiting, but escaped.

The government offices of investigation in Indianapolis were notified, and promised to send a man here to question him, and examine fingerprints, but the officer did not come, and local officers believe the best thing to do is to send him back to Cincinnati.

PERSONALITIES MAIN ISSUE OF CAMPAIGN

Reports From "Scouts" to National Headquarters Indicate Party
Lines Will be Broken

OLD YARDSTICK IS USELESS

Washington, Oct. 28—The congressional and senatorial campaign now in its closing days has become in the ranks of a contest of individual against individual instead of party against party.

In some states reports from "scouts" sent to headquarters here, show party lines will be broken this year more decidedly than ever before.

The nearer election day gets the more difficult it becomes for those seeking to make an impartial estimate of the relative strength of the two parties, to venture any prediction that would not be hazardous. This is because the old yardstick of the party average has been found useless this year by the observer from headquarters, particularly in those states classed as "doubtful."

The great issue of the campaign has not been materialized. The great issue in nearly every closing contest seems at this time to be personalities of the individual contestant.

BASKET BALL SCORES

Basketball games reported in Rush county Friday included two games at Center, where the Gings first and second team trimmed the two teams from the Center high school. The score of the first team's game was 15 to 9, and the second team score was 15 to 0. The Fairview high school alumni also defeated the high school team last night by the score of 20 to 16, in the Fairview gymnasium.

HODGES BRANCH PETITION UPHELD

Court Rules Against Remonstrance to Publication of Boundary Lines
For Assessment

CASE AT ISSUE ON MERITS

Two Civil Suits Filed in Court, One
Alleging Horse Plaintiff Bought
Had "Moon-Eyes"

The petition defining the boundary lines of the proposed assessment for the improvement of Hodges Branch, was sustained in court Friday by Judge Sparks, who heard the remonstrances to the publication of the boundary lines several weeks ago, and took the matter under advisement.

The remonstrance to the publication of the proposed assessment of the boundary lines was filed by John S. Abercrombie and others. Since the court overruled the remonstrance, the question is now at issue on the merits of the improvement, unless some other petition is filed to attempt to block it.

It will be recalled that the city council several months ago decided to enclose the branch through the city, and also decided that the cost, which was estimated at $42,000 should be paid by all property owners affected by the water shed, which embraces territory outside of the jurisdiction of the city taxing unit.

It was necessary to file the matter before the circuit court in order that the land outside of the corporation could be included in the assessment, and when the boundary lines were published, exceptions were taken. The first publication was thrown out of court on account of errors, and the second was sustained yesterday.

Two civil suits were filed in the circuit court today. Letitia Geoghan is plaintiff in a complaint on account against John J. O'Reilly, the demand being $100. The complaint sets out that in 1917 the plaintiff loaned $75 to the defendant, and that she has been unable to collect on the verbal account, which she says now amounts to $100 with interest.

Charles Cook is plaintiff in a suit against Sylvester V. Hinds, the suit being on a warranty, and the demand for $100. The complaint alleges that on April 29, 1922, the defendant sold the plaintiff at public sale, a horse which was represented to be sound, but it is alleged that as a matter of fact the animal had a disease commonly known as "moon eyes," and was worth $75 less than the price paid, which was said to be $115.

TO SET SEASON'S RECORD

Tax Collections Today Expected to be Heaviest of Period

County tax collections Friday amounted to $13,088.72, which brought the total payments on the fall installment up to $172,236.73. Collections today were expected to set a record for the season because Saturday is the day that most farmers pay their taxes. The office will be open tonight for Rushville people who are unable to visit the office during the day.

Collections will have to average about $34,800 a day for the remainder of the season if all of the taxes on the duplicate are paid because the total to be collected is estimated at $450,000, leaving approximately $278,700 to be paid.

TO HOLD PIE SOCIAL

At the regular meeting Thursday night of the Modern Woodmen, it was decided that an old fashioned pumpkin pie and cider social will be given in connection with the meeting next Thursday night, and each member is requested to bring a pie. The cider will be furnished by the lodge.

TO ATTEND OLDHAM FUNERAL

There will be a meeting of the Red Men Sunday afternoon at one o'clock at the lodge rooms to attend the funeral of Morton Oldham, who died in Newcastle, and whose body will be brought here for burial at the East Hill cemetery.

Threatened Upsets Are Predicted by Political Workers Due to Entanglements

TEXAS CASE IS CITED

Name of Senator Left Off Which Causes Litigation—Oklahoma Democrats are Split

By J. F. BEAMAN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 28.—Strange political bed-fellows have moved into the Southwest and threaten unrivalled upsets in the coming elections.

New alignments of the dominant political parties developed into situations which offer Republican forces their first opportunity to get a toe-hold in the Democratic states of Texas and Oklahoma, while in Missouri the fight over Senator James A. Reed's war record may cause an additional upturn. Kansas, sticking closely to party lines, is the exception.

Without the name of a senatorial candidate appearing on the ballot, as sent to the county judges, the Texas mix-up has been further entangled by suits, injunctions and other legal actions.

The situation developed when Earle B. Mayfield, supported by the Ku Klux Klan, was selected in the primary to succeed Senator Culbertson. Immediately the anti-Klan faction became active and in a fusion with Republicans put up George E. B. Peddy, Democrat, to run on a Republican ticket as Mayfield's opponent. Henry Young further complicated matters by seeking admittance to the race as the "State's Rights Democratic party" candidate.

Mayfield's name was first left off the ballot through an injunction order. Peddy's name was ordered from the ballot through a ruling of the attorney general that he was not nominated in the primary. Young sought a place on the ballot on the contention he represents a political party, but was overruled.

Regardless of the outcome of pending suits, indications were the situation would continue in litigation until after the election.

The split in Oklahoma politics followed the nomination of Jack Walton, mayor of Oklahoma City, for Governor on the Democratic ticket. James Fields is the Republican candidate. The entrance of the Farmer-Labor group broke party alignments in Oklahoma because Walton, nominated on the Democratic ticket, insisted, in the state convention, that the liberals' platform be adopted for the campaign.

Supporters of Woodrow Wilson's wing of the Democratic party in Missouri threaten to support the Republican candidate as a slap at "Jim" Reed for opposing the former President's administration. Reed weathered the storm in the primary when he won the nomination, although Wilson took a hand with a personal appeal. The wine and beer issue has been injected into the campaign as a side attraction.

Local issues are being fought out on purely party lines in Kansas, although the industrial court law, fathered by Governor Henry Allen, is attracting attention. W. Y. Morgan, Republican candidate for Governor, is supporting the measure, while labor, opposed to the court, is expected to line up behind Jonathan M. Davis Democrat.

Are You The Man Who "Never Reads Advertisements"?

Some men who are neither blind nor illiterate, claim sincerely that they "never read advertisements."

Yet, if you could investigate, in each case you would find that the man who "never reads advertisements" used an advertised tooth paste or shaving cream or soap. If he owns an automobile it will be an advertised car. If you ask his opinion of any automobile he will reply in words that might have been lifted bodily from an advertisement of that automobile.

Advertising has formed his opinion to a great degree. He may have received his information through others who obtained their knowledge from advertising. But it is a fact that no man can escape the effect of advertising even if he does say "he never reads advertisements."

Not one of us ever reasoned out entirely from his own mind that the earth is round. If we had not read it or heard it we would never have known it.

In these days of good, truthful, helpful advertising to say, "I never read advertisements," is merely your way of saying, "I don't read all advertisements."

SAFE AND SANE SALVATION—My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him. He only is my rock and my salvation; He is my defence; I shall not be moved.—Psalm 62: 5, 6.

Heed The Signal

A danger signal has been hoisted which should be heeded by every law abiding person if we as a nation are not to come to grief.

That signal is the prevalence of crime and graft and contempt for law that is becoming daily more pronounced in all sections of the country.

Newspapers are filled with reports of this abyss of depravity into which we are falling, but their words seem to fall upon deaf ears. Little is ever done about them.

True, while the subjects are fresh in the minds of the people, through widespread publicity, official investigations are profusely promised, and sometimes started—but too often suddenly abandoned. Pigeon holes are safe places for them until the storm blows over.

But why are so many of our law enforcement officers the country over so derelict in their sworn duty?

Why are there so many "investigations" started and so few cases actually brought to trial?

The answer is simple. Because the law abiding element of our population storms for a few days and then forgets, while the lawbreaker sits tight until the storm subsides and then goes right ahead with his criminal practices, knowing full well that there is little likelihood of any one being on his trail.

And because, again, we as citizens are derelict in our own duty. When

AMERICANISM

"Government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth." [Abraham Lincoln].

(This article is not copyrighted)

(Editor's Note—It is in the spirit of true Americanism that this article and a number of others similar to it, to appear later, are presented to our readers. They are sent forth to help stay the dangerous trend toward the undermining or total destruction of the government of the United States, now in evidence because of radicalism and the strange apathy of loyal citizens. No special or individual issue is to be advocated, supported or promulgated. Only fundamentals of government and the departures therefrom will be considered.)

Individualism and Americanism.

Nicholas Murray Butler, in his volume, "Is America Worth Saving," says: "The cornerstone of American government and of American life is the civil liberty of the individual citizen. The essentials of that civil liberty are proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence and are defined in the Constitution of the United States. * * * It is on this civil liberty of the individual as a basis that all American life, all American civilization, and all American success has been built."

The United States of America, the New World democracy, from its very inception, was based upon, and still guarantees, individual liberty, as well as equality. It is the highest concept of human government, evolved through centuries of struggle against restriction, and the domination of feudalism and monarchism. This government is a government "of the people, by the people, for the people." It is based upon a fundamental law—the Constitution of the United States—which was prepared by the people and which makes the people supreme as a self-governing nation. President Monroe, in speaking of the Constitution, is quoted as saying, "The people, the highest authority known to our system, from whom all our institutions spring and on whom they depend, formed it." Under this system of government, the individual has been given unlimited and unrestricted opportunity to progress in social, religious, political, industrial, educational channels, and in every other activity of life. These conditions make for sturdy, independent thinking and acting and produced such individuals as Washington, Jackson, Lincoln, Cleveland, Roosevelt, and countless other sturdy and dependable citizens less known, but equally as important to the country's welfare. Under the leadership of such men, the nation has grown and developed a people with visions and wisdom, faith in God, faith in their country, faith in themselves, and the courage to defend that faith.

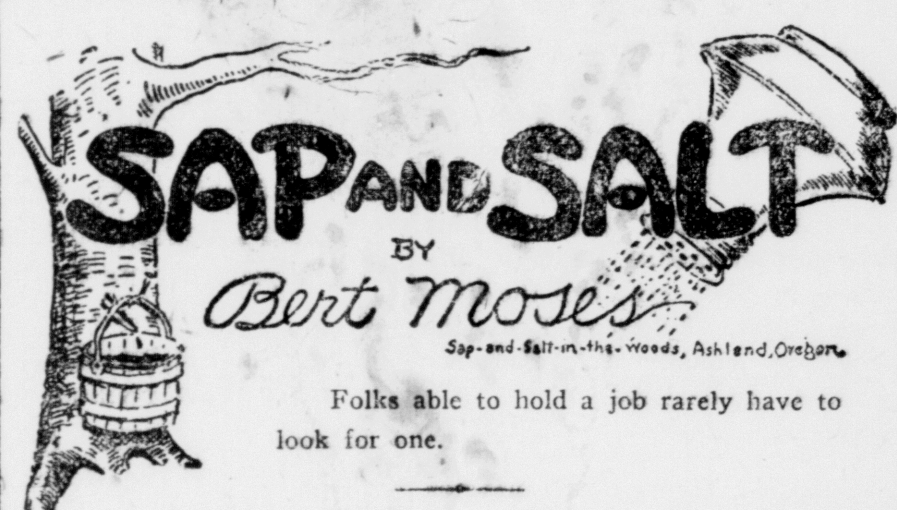

Individualism is the basis and backbone of American liberty and independence. It is defined by Webster as a "policy having primary regard for individual rights, specifically, one maintaining the political and economic independence of the individual initiative, action and interests. * * * The doctrine or practice regarding the chief end of society or moral law to be the development of the individual character; the theory that society exists for the sake of its individual members."

In the United States of America, the citizen has been granted boundless opportunities for individual development and the enjoyment of the rewards of his honest labor. He may attain any position in our Government for which his peculiar individual qualifications fit him.

Individual Americanism is the active expression of true manhood and womanhood, and is manifest in constructive living and a determined stand against all attacks made upon the Constitution. It refuses to be stampeded by the oratory of popularity seekers and to be made the plaything of destructive organizations. Real Americanism is to be interested in the general welfare of our country and its citizens and not to be governed by temporary impulses or corrective measures designed for the advantage of a limited number.

Independent Americanism is ready to be governed by Constitutional law, but revolts against class or group legislation or control. It accords equal rights to all; recognizes no distinctions of citizenship, and is ready to stand upon its own merits. It gives and demands fair play at all times. It breathes the indomitable spirit of freedom, honesty and sincerity, and destroys for all time, expediency, opportunism and hypocrisy in government. It stands unqualifiedly opposed to the insidious and enervating practices of paternalism and the destructive policy of bureaucracy. It recognizes, supports and maintains the government by law and not by men, the government which has made the United States of America the greatest country and the strongest moral force in the political world.

Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."—Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

I seen a gamblin' game which took a whole river boat t' run it on, down at Saint Louie durin' th' World's Fair there; an' it sure shook my young faith in th' reputation th' American people has worked up for bein' sensible, t' see th' way th' come-ons fell for th' wiles o' th' cappers; fellers fell for it that had wore off all their front teeth, bitin' dollars before they took 'em at home. High School Basketball Squad Cut

New Team to be Built up in Absence of Jack Stewart Who Quits
School—Phillips Captain

Rushville high school's basketball team is tuning up for the opening of the season next Friday night when the locals take on their old rivals, the Milroy high school, at the Graham Annex gymnasium.

Although Justin (Jack) Stewart, star forward on last year's team and elected captain of this year's five, has left school and will not be seen in the line-up this year, Coach H. W. Jones says that the morale of the squad is splendid and that the players are out to fight for the long end of the score in every game.

Coach Jones has appointed Herman (Flip) Phillips captain. Phillips is the only last year's man left on the team since Stewart has quit school and Casady and Pugh are unable to play on account of their health. Phillips is a flashy floor guard and is always in the game, as every fan knows, and his selection as captain is regarded as well merited.

The varsity squad has been cut to thirteen players. Those surviving the cut are Alexander, Cross, Sommerville, Melvaine, Carmel, Snoddy, Hilligoss, McNamara, Newbold, Phillips, Lakin, Wilson and Walker. Coach Jones will keep from ten to twelve men on the first squad all of the time so that he will have two teams available.

Coach Jones expects to build up an aggressive five without any semblance of being a one-man team. A coach is up against it when he has a player who stands out far above the rest of the men because he will unconsciously build up his plays around the star. The Rushville coach says he will guard against this and will endeavor to coach the Rushville team so that too much dependence will not be placed on any individual.

The first team was outfitted with new shoes and stockings Friday evening and will go to it in earnest Monday to get ready for the first test of strength.

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 28—While evidence produced in the last three years made it an established fact, further proof that eastern football is no longer superior to the brand played in other sections of the country was provided when the University of Iowa defeated Yale in the first big inter-sectional game of the season.

More of such proof may go further and indicate that eastern football is now inferior to the game being developed in the Middle-west especially.

Yale no doubt was crippled in the Iowa game with such stars as Jordan, Beckett, Bench and O'Hearn out of the game and the Elis showed themselves in desperate need of good quarterback reserves.

Many of the critics, however, expressed the opinion that the result might have been the same if Yale had presented her full strength.

Yale continues weak where all the other big eastern, middle-western and southern teams are gaining strength—in the forward passing game.

The Elis continue to look with scorn upon the forward pass and the stubbornness with which Yale coaches refuse to develop that important implement of offense will never help the Blue get back the prestige of old.

Agreement entered into between Yale, Harvard and Princeton forbids inter-sectional football in the future and it is to be regretted, since it could have done the game and the "Big Three" also so much good.

Perhaps it is to save what little prestige remains with the "Big Three" that it was decided to play among themselves in the future.

Even though losing, Yale, Harvard and Princeton could get more nationwide credit in inter-sectional games than by making a thousand points a season on sectional set-ups.

Yale was such a good loser against Iowa that the Elis gained more prestige in the middle-west than the loss in the howl gridiron.

Away from the east, where the policy of the "Big Three" is well known, football fans misunderstand the attitude of Yale, Harvard and Princeton over defeats in the early season.

Yale did not shed tears over losing to Iowa. On the other hand, the coaches, students and players almost ignored it. Yale starts the football season with but one object in view—to beat Harvard. All else amounts to nothing.

They look upon the Iowa game in New Haven as a game that helped Yale greatly to find the defects in the Blue machine and they do not consider it as a lost game when they acquired something that might help them to beat Harvard.

Harvard figures the same way and so does Princeton, although in a smaller degree.

SPORT CHATTER

New York—Because of the bad showing he made in his last appearance with Jack Wolfe, the boxing commission has barred Joe Lynch, bantam champion, from the Madison Square ring indefinitely.

New York—Dutch Reuther Brooklyn pitcher, is the first hold out of the season. He wants $12,000 and the club offers him $10,000.

Chicago—Bill Killfer, baseball's youngest big time manager, has been signed for two more years as the manager of the Chicago cubs. Killfer is 34 and came to the Cubs with Alexander in 1917, for $50,600.

New York—Eleven regulars of the Penn State football team of 1887 will witness the game here this afternoon between Penn State and Syracuse. Only one member of the original squad is not living, J. G. Mitchell.

Chicago—Because Arnold Stutz batted only .297 instead of .300 the Chicago Cubs saved $10,000. In the deal with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League for the young outfielder, the Cubs agreed to add $10,000 to the purchase price if he finished the season as a .300 hitter.

BETS FAVOR "WETS"
IN OHIO ELECTION

Thousands of Dollars on Even Terms
On Proposed Beer Amendment
Passed Up By Drys

"WET" MONEY GOES BEGGING

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 28—Thousands of dollars offered as even money that the proposed beer and wine amendment to the state constitution will be approved by the people at the election went begging for takers in Ohio today.

Even money against the proposal offered earlier in the campaign was withdrawn from the boards.

Betting reports from all over the state today indicated a prevailing belief that wet forces will be victorious.

Victory of the wets in this referendum on prohibition probably also would carry with it repudiation of President Harding's administration by his home state. The anti-saloon league, chief opponent of the proposed wet amendment, has almost unanimously endorsed all G. O. P. candidates.

SEEKS CHANGE FROM HIS HOME COUNTY

Nie Shaffer, Charged With Murder.
Says People of Dekalb County
Are Prejudiced

MAINTAINS HIS INNOCENCE

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 28—The trial of Nie Shaffer, charged with the murder of James W. and Cora Shaffer, will not be held in Dekalb county.

Shaffer has signed an affidavit asking for a change of venue from the Dekalb county circuit court. He sets out in the affidavit that because of the excitement and prejudice against him existing in this county he can not be given a fair trial.

John Shaffer, father of Nie and the murdered man, and attorney Dudley Gleason think Nie innocent. Gleason maintains that the state has nothing except circumstantial evidence against his client and he says the necessary link in the chain is missing.

Nie's father said there was some doubt about the matter up until the time the grand jury returned the indictments. Then when Nie remained absolutely unmoved except to show extreme surprise he said he was convinced "Nie didn't kill Jim and Cora."

The couple were murdered in their garage after returning home from a theatre one night. Nie stoutly maintained the story of his innocence and all the grilling to which he was subjected failed to shake him.

WILL REPRINT THE BALLOTS

Putnam County Officials Get The Party Tickets Reversed

Greencastle, Ind., Oct. 28—Putnam county election officials were preparing today to have new ballots printed for the November 7th election. They had put the democratic ticket in the first column and the republican ticket in the second column. This was done in the belief that the election law required the party receiving the largest number of votes in the county in the last election should have first column. Attorney General Lesh ruled the law said the party receiving the largest vote throughout the state and not in each individual county or township should be placed in first column on ballots.

PURDUE FIGHT WILL FEATURE IOWA GAME

Determination To Play Almost As Great A Part As Anything Else
In Clash This Afternoon

WABASH NEXT ON PROGRAM

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 28—Boiler-maker fight and determination will play almost as great a part as anything else when Purdue and Iowa clash today in Iowa City, and Coach Phelan's Boiler-maker eleven starts the game with two of its big line stars absent—Fleischman and Stewart, both of whom have helped build up the reputation of Purdue's forward wall this year. Fleischman was hurt in the Chicago game, last Saturday, while Stewart was hurt in practice scrimmage this week, and had to be carried from the field.

Coach Phelan has spent practically all of this week working on offensive play, which department of the game has been weak with the Purdue eleven up to date. Forward passing has been particularly stressed, and the chances are that Purdue will use numerous overhead attempts to rain ground against the Hawkeyes. Iowa, handled so roughly by Illinois last week, is expected to extend itself against the Boiler-makers.

Next week, what is apparently going to be one of Purdue's biggest battles is scheduled with Wabash. The Scarlet gridgers, according to reports, are going to extend themselves in the game with the Boiler-makers, with the idea of rolling up a topheavy score. The Boiler-makers, will have much to say in this regard however, although on paper, Pete Vaughn's eleven ranks far superior to the Purdue team this fall.

AMUSEMENTS

Offering at the Princess

The two acts of vaudeville were well received at the Princess last night, and will be repeated on the program again today in connection with the feature pictures.

Channing of the Northwest, which comes to the Princess again today, offers Eugene O'Brien the type of role his admirers have long wished he would play. There is perhaps no screen star of the day more fitted to play the part of the English Gentleman forced by circumstances to emigrate to Northwest and there adapt himself to the adventurous existence/life in that part of the world demands.

In the first part of the story when Channing is living the life of a young rounder in the Mayfair and Piccadilly, Mr. O'Brien appears to uphold the belief that the young Englishman is the best dressed and most carefully groomed person in the world today. One can readily understand after glimpsing the star as he strolls through Piccadilly why American heiresses leave home.

Forced to go to Canada, Channing does what all men of his type seem to have done in that case—enlists in the Northwest Mounted.

It is in Canada that Channing first meets Life face to face. Perhaps it is the beautiful Jes Driscoll, played by Norma Shearer, which changes Channing's outlook on things in general. At any rate it is she which is the cause of Channing becoming involved in a series of adventures which make the story move along like a streak of lightning.

At The Mystic Today

An ancient prairie schooner which is surrounded by innumerable historic associations, was used by Triangle in the production of "Keith of the Border," the picture that will be shown at the Mystic theatre today.

This wagon was used in the gold rush to California when the perils of mountains, plains, desert and redskins were faced.

Roy Stewart, the cowboy star who enacts the leading role in "Keith of the Border," is supposed to come upon the burning schooner while riding through the wastes as a border scout. When he reached the scene the wagon was in flames, but they had crept from the canvas top to the bed of the "schooner" and there was no water to extinguish the blaze. Here Stewart's desert training stood him in good stead, for, seizing a shovel, he smothered the blaze in sand, a thing none of the other members of the company had thought of.

BRITISH LEADERS IN HEAT OF BATTLE

New Premier and Lloyd George Push Forward Their Efforts For Supremacy in England

POLICIES ABOUT THE SAME

First Utterances of The Two Were Bitter Words and With No Self Aimed Attacks

By LLOYD ALLEN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
London, Oct. 28—The campaign between Premier Bonar Law and Lloyd George for supremacy in British politics was in full swing today.

First utterances of the two were entirely without bitterness. Neither made attacks on each other but confined themselves to enunciating policies, which, when analyzed, do not vary greatly.

The lack of a definite issue in the campaign leads many observers to believe that another coalition government is inevitable after Nov. 20, the date when the new parliament meets. The general election is to be held Nov. 15.

The program of Bonar Law, as announced in a speech at Glasgow, was favorably received in many quarters, although it received much criticism because of the lack of definiteness.

According to the Post, the premier promises nothing except to do his best and plainly tells the country that the people must get down to work and rebuild prosperity with their own hands.

The Times declares his platform is straight-forward and applauds its moderation.

Bonar Law's policies are sneered at by the Chronicle which claims that he has failed to show a reason for throwing Lloyd George out of office, since he proposes to do nothing but what has already been done.

Little Late in The Season

Warsa, Oct. 28—Fish are anxious to be caught here.

This is the belief of Joe Campfield and Norman Haymond fishermen on Webster Lake.

Some weeks ago a four pound bass flopped from the water into Hammonds boat.

But Campfield has one better on Haymond who said that, while he was out fishing, something struck him on the head. He thought it was a nut thrown by some boys who were in a nearby woods.

But, seeing no boys, he looked around and there was a one pound bass flopping in the bottom of his boat.

NINTH ENLISTMENT

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 28 — Sergeant James Kinney, having charge of the recruiting office in Muncie for the last fifteen years, has completed his ninth enlistment and will leave soon for army service again. He is the oldest recruiting officer in the Indiana district.

Hurts the Farmer

Two years ago this month the Democratic Underwood tariff law had been in effect for six years.

In May, 1921, an Emergency tariff bill was passed by a Republican congress and signed by a Republican President. Note how it affects prices of farm products.

The figures are furnished by the Department of Agriculture. The first column shows the Democratic prices of October, 1920. The second column shows the prices of the same articles in September, 1922, after the Emergency Agricultural tariff of May, 1921, had been in effect more than a year. The third column shows the rate of duty under the Emergency Tariff. Note how prices of all "protected" articles fell under the high tariff:

	Oct. 1920	Sept. 1920	Tariff
Hogs	$ 14.71	$ 8.77
Beef Cattle	7.22	6.45	30%
Veal Calves	13.31	8.71	30%
Sheep	5.50	4.19	$2 head
Milk Cows	76.00	48.00	30%
Horses	112.00	82.00
Wool	.28	.31	15 cts.
Wheat	2.14	.88	15 cts.
Corn	1.21	.63	35 cts.
Oats	.61	.32
Barley	.91	.46
Rye	1.62	.63
Potatoes	1.35	.88
Clover Hay	22.00	11.00
Alfalfa Hay	24.00	12.00
Timothy Hay	22.00	11.00
Eggs	.56	.28

NOTE—In October, 1921, five months after the Emergency Tariff law was passed, wool was only 16 cents a pound, according to the U. S. reports.

MARKETS FOR FARMERS

Out of every 100 bushels of wheat raised in the United States, 30 bushels must be sold in Europe. Out of every 100 bushels of corn raised, 15 bushels must be sold in Europe (usually in form of pork.)

A high tariff kills foreign trade and destroys foreign markets. With no foreign markets for our surplus products, the home market is glutted and prices fall, and farmers suffer.

The Democratic party made markets for the farmer and made him prosperous. When the farmer is prosperous everybody is prosperous.

PROHIBITION AIDS SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Chicago Banker Says Increase in Deposits Is Due To Fact That Country Is Now Dry

IS 30 PERCENT AT ONE BANK

Chicago, Oct. 28 —Prohibition has stimulated a nationwide spirit of thrift according to statements of prominent bankers here today.

Savings accounts have been steadily increasing, in size and in number, ever since the enactment of the Volstead act, according to the bankers, who attributed the increase in a large measure to the dry law.

"Bank deposits have steadily increased ever since prohibition became the law of the land," declared James B. Forgan, chairman of the board of the First National Bank of Chicago.

"The absence of the saloon is largely responsible for this growth," he said.

John Jay Abbott of the Continental and Commercial Bank, declared the savings in his bank alone had increased 30 per cent since prohibition, and that he believed the increase had been general throughout the country.

TO SHIP ANTHRACITE INTO THE NORTHWEST

Conference of Operators Will be Held in New York Soon to Work Out a Plan

TO SHIP COAL IN BOX CARS

(By United Press)

Washington, Oct. 28—A conference of anthracite operators will be held in New York within the next few days under the direction of Federal Fuel Distributor Spens, to arrange for immediate rail transportation of anthracite coal in box cars to the northwest.

With the approach of freezing weather in that region, little anthracite is in the dealers bins, a survey made by Spens showed.

Water transportation on the Great Lakes is at present, with the heavy movement of bituminous coal continuing, inadequate to assure a supply of anthracite in the northwest before winter sets in.

The New York conference will evolve a plan whereby water transportation will be supplemented by rail shipment.

URGING HARDING TO APPOINT AN OHIOAN

Pressure is Brought to Bear Upon The President to Name Buckeye Man for Justice

WILL SUCCEED W. R. DAY

By LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 28—Strong pressure is being brought to have President Harding appoint another Ohioan to succeed William R. Day, who has resigned as associate justice of the United States supreme court to take new duties as umpire in the settlement of war claims with Germany.

Scores of messages are pouring into the White House urging that honor of filling Day's place be given to the Buckeye state, simultaneously, enthusiastic booms are under way for John Weld Peck of Cincinnati, United States district judge for southern Ohio, and Judge Maurice Donahue of Columbus. United States circuit judge for the sixth judicial circuit. Both Peck and Donahue are democrats and therefore, are eligible for the appointment which undoubtedly will go to a Democrat because of the fact that all except two of the present members of the supreme court are Republicans.
